Reunions & Homecomings

“Our relationship with HKU does not stop at graduation... we are all proud to be HKU graduates”

Sylvia Pang 彭婉思 (MBA 2003)

Some reunions are rather formal events: there has been a Silver Jubilee Reunion tradition in HKU since the graduation of the Class of 1971, which is unique amongst the territory’s tertiary institutions. But there are all sorts of reunions, like the 10th, 30th, or 50th anniversaries of graduation, as well as faculty, department or hall reunions.

And of course, you are always welcome to have your reunions, big or small, on campus. It’s a perfect opportunity to rekindle old friendships as well as to take a look at how your alma mater has developed.

Why not hold a reunion for your class? Here are a few tips to help you with your planning.

Why have a reunion?

Reunions are about connecting. They let you renew former friendships, or celebrate the shared experiences and values of university life. But just as you are not the same person you were when you were a student, reunions also bring you opportunities to network with those you might not have known so well, and to build new friendships.

How do we start?

From experience, we have found that the best way is to form an Organising Committee/Group (don’t be put off by this; it only sounds formal) made up of representatives from each faculty (you can have more than one representative from each faculty), and assign a convenor. Some Committees may meet more frequently and some may not; it’s really very flexible and depends on the schedule of the members.

What programmes can be planned for the reunions?
